THE THREE CARDINAL RULES OF AN ENGLISH GRAMMAR TEST

- (1) Most critical to remember is to begin on the left side of the page and read until you get to a question. Do not start on the right side of the page and read "around" the question to figure it out. The test makers know that you are going to do this, so they design questions that will catch you.
- (2) WRITE ON YOUR TEST. Make the corrections before you look at the answer choices so that you aren't duped by wrong answers.
- (3) Know the rule for the answer you choose; don't choose "what sounds best."

Complete Sentences 1. Complete sentences have at least one subject and at least one verb. 2. Complete sentences do not start with WHICH or THAT. Run-On Sentences 1. You cannot have two complete sentences put together without a comma and a fancy (or, and, nor, but, or, yet, so) or with a semicolon (;). 2. Commas cannot hold together two complete sentences.	Dependent Clauses/Fragments 1. These are not sentences because they don't make sense by themselves. 2. They almost always begin with WHICH, THAT, WHAT, WHERE, WHEN, BECAUSE, UNTIL, UNLESS, BEFORE, AFTER, AS, IF, SINCE, THOUGH, ALTHOUGH. 3. If your sentence starts with one of these words, you will need a comma after the clause ends and before your independent clause starts.
Subject-Verb Agreement Singular verbs end in -s. ex. John runs. Plural verbs do not end in -s. ex. John and Joe run. Ignore intervening phrases when evaluating subject-verb agreement. The STUFF between subjects and verbs doesn't count when you are correcting mistakes. Scratch them out and then make the corrections.	Contractions and Possessives It's and it's whose and who's is is possessive whose is possessive It's = It is who's = who is their and they're your and you're their is possessive your is possessive they're = they are you're = you are If a singular noun ends in -s, use 's. ex. Chris's bike shop If a singular noun ends in -s, use only an apostrophe. ex. The girl's basketball team
Unnecessary Shifts in Point of View 1st PERSON or 3rd PERSON I, me, we or he, she, they When you begin reading the passage, note the point of view it is written from. Keep that point of view throughout. NOTE: Most often, the use of YOU on the ACT should be eliminated. However, pay attention to the context of the passage before making your decision.	Punctuating Titles 1. If the thing can sit on a shelf, it must be underlined. Ex. Books, movies, cds, newspapers, magazines. 2. If the thing is inside of something, it's inside quotes. Ex. Poems, songs, articles, short stories, essays.
WHO or WHOM? WHO=he, she, it, they WHOM=him, her, them Plug in he or him; whichever one makes sense tells you if you should use who or whom. Also, if the whom form is followed IMMEDIATELY by a verb, use who.	Parallel Structure Language has to "match;" that is, the parts of speech in a list must be the same, sentences should follow a pattern if you are trying to make a point. Generally, this rule applies to lists.
